About the speaker -

Julie Williams is a Certified Kitchen and Bath Designer (CKD, CBD) and Certified Green Building Professional (CGBP). In addition to her formal education, Julie completed an intense two-year certificate program in architectural/interior space design. After owning her own business in Southern California, Julie relocated to Northern California where she established Julie Williams Design. She is a member of both NKBA and Build it Green where she continues learning through the many classes offered by these organizations. In addition to ongoing education she has had the opportunity to learn from many industry greats such as kitchen designer and author Ellen Cheever, CMKBD who was a founding member of NKBA and has helped author many of the industry's design principles and training manuals. She has gained a wealth of invaluable insight into the remodeling process as well as a honed skill in space planning during her 20+ year career.
